Subject: Microsoft Settlement

AOL's recent suit against Microsoft appears well-timed to disrupt and derail acceptance of Microsoft's proposed settlement for alleged anti-trust practices. It is my opinion that the settlement proposed by Microsoft is reasonable and fair. It is time to close this issue and begin to repair and correct the damage to the marketplace that has resulted. As usual, the consumer has been the biggest loser of all. I urge you to recommend acceptance of Microsoft's proposed settlement.
